

FEATHERED FRIENDS AVIARY AND RESCUE

As a young child, I have had a passion for birds. Birds are such beautiful and intelligent creatures. Many species can make lifelong companions living up to 100 years. Many owners have to surrender them due to certain circumstances. Birds take a lot of attention, time, care, and expenses that can be very costly. Mars dedicates her time and home to provide the best life possible. However, there are times when avian costs are needed to provide medical treatment and grooming for neglected rescued birds, as well as food and other supplies. If you would like to donate to this rescue, it would be greatly appreciated.
